“The Dutch Shipping Industry Likes the Port of Cleveland’s Strategic Location.”

The Netherlands is home to one of the largest maritime industries in the world, so we know a good port operation when we see one. That’s one reason why the Netherlands is the Port of Cleveland’s largest single provider of incoming freight.

Cleveland’s position as the first major port destination on the Great Lakes offers superior access to an extensive ground and rail transportation system.

The Port of Cleveland makes it possible to efficiently transport our steel products to local steel service centers, distributors and manufacturers.
